Mike Burton is an official RFU hospitality licensee for all of England's home games in the RBS 6 Nations Championship 2010.

To ensure that clients receive only the very best RBS 6 Nations hospitality experience, Mike Burton's strong partnership with the RFU means that all rugby hospitality packages offered at all of England's home games are official. This gives all clients the peace of mind that they have booked with a reputable company.

Mike Burton operates the official Chase Bridge Hospitality Village which is adjacent to Twickenham's West Car Park. The business has managed and operated the official Chase Bridge Hospitality Village for more than two decades, and is a pioneer in hospitality at major rugby union matches.

Wales travel to Twickenham after a disappointing finish in the 2009 Championships. They will no doubt be looking to set the record straight with a storming start to the 2010 tournament.

- Early access to the exclusive hospitality suite, or company table, within the official Chase Bridge Hospitality Village
- Coffee and biscuits followed by champagne and canapés reception
- Full complimentary bar with draught beer
- A superb four-course meal with fine wines and liqueurs
- Officially allocated reserved seated match ticket
- Floral decorations, Sky satellite, televisions, celebrity guest speaker and souvenir match programme
- Official onsite shop retailing a variety of England associated merchandise
- Reserved car parking (one pass per four guests booked)
- After the match relax with guests and enjoy one-and-a-half hour's open bar and a hot savoury dish
- Official presentation case, map, itinerary and security pass for each guest
- Experienced hosts in attendance
